Come and go as you please

Many of us have a mum or dad, a friend or relative who's told us stories about their own lives that seemed ... ordinary, incredible, hard, unlikely, different, extraordinary ... But now? Perhaps these people are old and forgetful or have passed away, and their stories too are becoming dim and uncertain.

Don't let them fade away . . .

- Celebrate stories and history in a unique event
- Listen to readings of personal experiences
- Hear tales of life from years ago
- Discover your family history with expert help
- Have your own story recorded

The Life Story Project, initiated as part of TASS, has arranged this Heritage Open Day event in association with Tavistock Library and Tavonians Theatre Company, adding drama, depth and context to these oral histories.

You will be able to listen to readings of people's unique experiences of historical events, hear people tell tales of life in remarkably different times, find out about your family history with genealogists from Tavistock Library, handle some clothes and artefacts from the 1930s to 1950s and have stories from your own life recorded.

A reminder about this special event taking place this Saturday. It is going to be interesting, informative and fun. We hope to see you there.

Brontë cast - is there a Patrick out there?

Circumstances have changed for one of the cast of Brontë resulting in him no longer being able to take on the role. We are therefore looking for someone to play Patrick, father to the three sisters and Branwell. It could be played by someone in their 40s to 60s and requires a soft Irish accent. In this play the cast take on other roles, including some of the characters from the novels, and the actor playing Patrick also plays Mr Rochester from Jane Eyre, as well as a couple of other characters. It's an exciting play so being part of it will certainly be a rewarding experience.

If you, or someone you know, might be interested in taking on this role please contact the Director of Brontë, Stuart Waterworth, stuwworth@btinternet.com.
